

<http://beyondpenguins.nsd.org/>

Issue Two: Learning From the Polar Past (April 2008)

Dinosaurs in the Dark

original text “Dinos in the Dark” written by Steve Whitt

adapted by Jessica Fries-Gaither

Have you ever heard of a dinosaur? They are animals that lived a long time ago.

Many dinosaurs lived in hot places like jungles. But some lived in cold places, too.

The sun did not shine at all during the winter. How could dinosaurs live in these cold and dark places?

We have found dinosaur bones in these places. We know that they had B-I-G eyes.

Their big eyes helped them see in the dark. They could see the trees to find food. And they could see their enemies and stay safe.

They could stay warm in the cold, too.

This is how the dinosaurs lived in the cold and dark places. Where else might dinosaurs have lived?

Flesch-Kincaid RL = 1.8